1. Claims 1-38 remain for examination.

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention lacks patentable utility.

It is not clear what is the utility of the processor, of the method executed in the processor, and of the program product. It is not clear what objective is served by placing the plurality of pointers in the stack and removing before it is known if a sequence of microinstructions pointed by the pointers is valid.

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Applicant failed to adequately describe a processor implementing a method of placing and removing a plurality of pointers associated with a common macroinstruction from an-out-of-order microinstructions pointer stack, and it would require an ordinary skill in the art undue experimentation to develop the processor and the method.

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7. Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

(a) Claim 1, it is not clear what is out-of-order with respect to what.

(b) Claim 1, it is not clear whether the plurality of pointers are placed concurrently and removed concurrently.

(c) Claim 1, it is not clear whether microcode and microinstruction are used synonymously.

(d) Claims 8 and 32, the same as (a) to (c), and it is not clear what is meant by "executing microcode addressed by (through) pointers stored in the ... stack" and what are the purpose and the result of the execution.

8. Applicant's arguments filed May 5, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant stated that the specification disclosed the operation of placing and removing a plurality of pointers associated with a common macroinstruction, however, examiner failed to decipher such an operation from the passage cited by the applicant (page 5, line 3- page 7, line 16).

Art Unit: 2111

Applicant is requested to provide a clear explanation.
